Developments and information on the performance of financial markets in January

The Bank of Albania has decided to keep the base interest rate unchanged at 2.75%. The monetary policy followed during this period has given some effect and as a result the inflation rate has decreased during these last months. The treasury bills and bonds interest rates of Albania Government, where assets of Prestigj Fund are invested, have changed trend, by decreasing at the beginning of 2023. This drop in rates is expected to continue during the first part of the year and then stabilize during the second part. The assets of Prestigj Fund are invested only in T-bills and T-bonds issued by Albania Government and as a result the fund is exposed to changes in the interest rates of these securities therefore, the decrease in interest rates has had a positive impact on the investment portfolio, and as a result, the unit price of the fund is increased by +1.53% during the month of January.

During January, the interest rates of the Albanian Government securities in the domestic market had a downward trend, with the exception of the 10-year bond, which was the last bond that was corrected with the rate increase. The yield of the 12 months Treasury Bill resulted at 4.859% decreasing with 0.61% compared to the auction rate in December. The yield of 3- and 6-month Treasury Bills was decreased respectively by 0.10% and 0.26%, compared to the previous auctions. Regarding the Treasury bonds auctions, the 2-years bond auction, issued in LEK resulted at 5.80% decreasing with 0.44% compared to the last auction rate. The 5-years benchmark bond auction was organized and resulted at 6.073%, decreasing with 1.61% compared to the last auction. The 10-years bond auction resulted at 7.60%, increasing with 0.12% compared to the last auction.

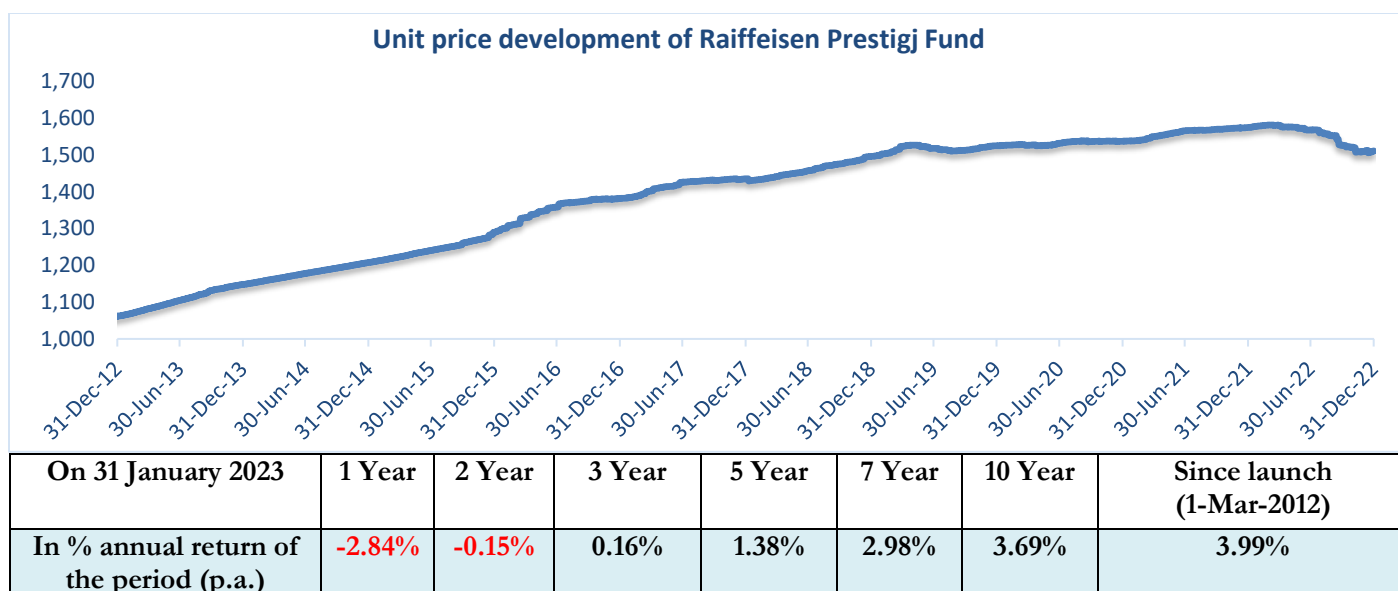

The chart below gives an overview of interest rate evolution of Treasury Bills and Bonds issued by the Albanian government during the 1-year period January 2022 – January 2023. For the 3 and 5 years reference bonds are presented the fixing yields, calculated from contributors' quotations at the end of January.

Fund Performance and unit value development January 31, 2023

The net annual return for period 31 January 2022 to 31 January 2023 is -2.84%. The unit value of Prestigj fund had an increase by +1.53% during January, as a result of the decrease of the securities interest rates issued by the Albanian Government.

The Fund continues to have the same investment portfolio structure, investing in T-Bill and T-Bond issued by the Albanian Government. As a result, the portfolio value varies when securities interest rates change and investment return varies based on market conditions, especially changes in interest rates of Albanian government securities. Thus, when interest rates increase, the securities value in the portfolio decreases and consequently the rate of return for the previous period decreases. The opposite happens when interest rates fall. Therefore, the Fund unit value can be volatile. Volatility is a natural part of investment funds, and it can never be eliminated, so the unit price of the fund may also fall, not only increase.
