Auctions of the securities issued in ALL from the Government of the Republic of Albania are relatively frequent: 12M Treasury Bills are issued twice a month; 2-year bonds once a month; 10 and 15-year bonds are issued only on a quarterly basis. The government organizes the auctions of 5- and 3-year reference bonds with a frequency every month, for each maturity. The investment strategy remains focused on long-term investments.

Net asset value is roughly ALL 1.63 billion as of November 30, 2024.

Developments and information on the performance of financial markets in November

The assets of Pension Fund are invested only in T-bills and T-bonds issued by Albania Government and as a result the fund is exposed to changes in the interest rates of these securities. Thus, the Investments Funds are not directly related to international markets but are mainly affected by developments in the domestic market, such as changes in the interest rates of Albanian Government securities.

In November the Albanian Government securities interest rates have followed a downward trend.

The yield of the 12 months Treasury Bill resulted at 2.84% decreasing by 0.16% compared to auction rate in October.

Regarding the treasury bonds, compared to the last auction: The 2-years bond yield resulted at 3.66% decreasing by 0.16%; The 3 years benchmark bond yield resulted at 3.87% decreasing by 0.22%; The 5 years benchmark bond yield resulted at 4.337%, decreasing by 0.33%; The 7 years bond yield resulted at 4.85% decreasing by 0.51% and the 15 years bond yield resulted at 6.41% decreasing by 0.57%

The chart below gives an overview of interest rate evolution of Treasury Bills and Bonds issued by the Albanian government during the 1-year period November 2023 – November 2024. For the 3 and 5 years reference bonds are presented the fixing yields, calculated from contributors' quotations at the end November.
