Risk and Reward Profile

Low Risk
Low Return

High Risk
High Return

The estimated risk profile of the Feeder Fund Raiffeisen Sustainable Solid is closely related to the risk profile of the Master Fund. Based on the historical data of returns of the Master Fund over the last 5 years, the projected risk profile of the Feeder Fund belongs to third category of the synthetic risk and reward indicator (SRRI=3).

The synthetic risk and reward indicator corresponds to an integer, used to rank the Fund's risk profile on a scale of 1 to 7, based on increasing level of volatility. The lowest category does not mean that the investment is riskless. This indicator aims to offer the investor an overview of the fluctuations in Fund unit price based on historical performance. Historical data used to generate the indicator cannot constitute a guarantee on future risk profile.

Performance of Feeder fund

Monthly performance was 0.23% for Raiffeisen Sustainable Solid – Feeder fund during January.

The yields of sovereign bonds in Eurozone were slightly lower, and the demand for corporate bonds remains strong. A robust rally by the end of the month brought the stocks again to higher levels. In general, January gains were led by small- and mid-capitalization indices, with the Russell 2000 and S&P MidCap 400 outperforming large-cap benchmarks.

It should be noted that the rate of return varies depending on market conditions and the unit value may be volatile, so it is not static or always increasing, but may also fall because of changes in market conditions. Volatility is a natural part of investment funds, and its total elimination is impossible.

The investors of Raiffeisen Sustainable Solid fund and all funds managed by Raiffeisen Invest are advised to have the longest possible investment horizon to benefit from an optimal return on investment and thus in the medium or long term to be able to recover the negative effects, which are created in the short term.

We do encourage investors to maintain their investment by not changing their investment objective of staying in fund driven by the unusual situation created by market developments, because in this way they will not risk getting out of the fund at the wrong time for their investment.

Commentary of Master fund management on financial market developments during January

International stock markets posted gains in January, while geopolitical uncertainties led to significantly increased volatility at times. The continuing optimism regarding the AI investment cycle provided particular support. Geopolitical risks also caused short-term volatility in bonds, with Bund yields trending slightly higher and USD-denominated bonds also suffering from a weaker US dollar. Corporate bonds, on the other hand, benefited from strong demand and tighter risk premiums. In this environment, the fund performed well overall.

The fund invests in a broadly diversified range of bonds and equities from responsible companies and governments.

Developments over the coming months will depend primarily on US trade policy, the reporting season and further central bank measures.

Data on fund return referring to the past is only indicative and does not represent a promise or guarantee of the fund return in the future. All other numerical examples are used for illustrative purposes and analysis of historical data and should not be used by investors to draw conclusions for the future.

Potential investors should read the Feeder Fund Prospectus and Fund Rules. Raiffeisen Invest and the fund's sales force do not guarantee a certain return on the fund.
